Firestone FAST FACT

Iowa Speedway's short oval is a unique challenge because cars are turning left for nearly a full lap. The resulting transfer of weight to the right side requires Firestone Racing engineers to design completely different Firestone Firehawk race tires for each side of the vehicle. Right-side race tires at Iowa have a more durable compound and construction to handle the heavier load while left-side race tires have a softer compound and construction that help ensure the car doesn't lose grip.
